

CALIFORNIA FOREST IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM (CFIP) 5190

(No. 5; January 1995)

The purpose of the forest resources improvement program is to encourage private and public investments in, and improved management of, forestlands and resources within the state to ensure adequate high quality timber supplies, related employment, and other economic benefits. The program also strives to ensure the protection, maintenance, and enhancement of a productive and stable forest resource system for the benefit of present and future generations.

The primary emphasis of the program is upon improving the timber productivity of forest lands in the state provided that, consistent with this primary goal, the program also improves all forest resources, such as fish and wildlife habitats and soil resources, so that the overall effect of the program is to improve the total forest resource system.
