

QUORUM AND MEETING PLACE

5422

(No. 3 June 1991)

A quorum for transacting business consists of the chairman (or vice chairman), secretary (or alternate), and four other members.

A quorum may not be necessary for such business as the holding of a public hearing, providing such business is authorized by the committee and their findings and records are reported to the committee at a regular or special session. Committee action that should be taken by a committee quorum is not appropriate at those meetings authorized to be held without a quorum.

Meetings at which the committee is taking formal action on something required by law will be held within the forest district of such committee.
