

U.S. SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

5624

(May 1988)

Soils analyzed in the survey are correlated into the National Cooperative Soil Survey through cooperation with its administrator, the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. The Soil Conservation Service and the Soil-Vegetation Survey coordinate and cooperate in their surveys and, whenever feasible, combine publications.

The Soil Conservation Service will provide the Soil-Vegetation Survey with scientific and/or clerical personnel, as prescribed in the annual agreements, to conduct the fieldwork and prepare the publication.
